Hi All – I sent this along to Tahirh for her review, too. She pointed out that the SD RWQCB concurred with the findings in the RACR in 2019 (not in 2018). Thanks!

Ashley

Hi Lawrence:

If you need a response before Sarah Ann is back from leave here are my thoughts.

I have no concerns with Derral's slide. However, Derral indicates in his email that he would like to add a bullet that states CA DTSC and SD RWQCB concurred with findings of the Remedial Action Completion Report in 2018.

I would not include a reference to DTSC since they transferred the lead agency role to the WB many years ago and I don't believe they were involved in review or concurrence of the RACR

Regards,
Janet

Sarah Ann,
Any concerns with Darrel's slide?
Thanks

Lawrence:

Sorry:

Please find attached.

FYSA, I talked to Sean McClain at RWQCB today. RWQCB considers the NTC Boat Channel a closed site. They issued concurrence with the RACR and have issued letter to others that justifies that decision. Sean intends to portrayed that on RWQCB staff slides prior to the Navy presentation. I would like to add a bullet that states CA DTSC and SD RWQCB concurred with findings of the Remedial Action Completion Report in 2018, so no further action is necessary.

Derral

Did you attach a slide? Can you resend please.

Thanks

Lawrence:

Attached is a slide that will include a few bullet points on the NTC Boat Channel. I developed these strictly based on information that was already provided at the RAB meeting, which is a bit dated. However, it begs a question – which is “what is current status?” Other installations identify that as typically NFA, and clearly that is a potential issue based on thread below.

Please let me know if these points are okay to present.

I understand I will not be able to address any question on a challenge, but can we say RACR submitted (date?) and accepted by the agencies or in review by the agencies or is that pushing it too far?
